- Outline

Due to the recent increase in people spending time at home, there is a growing need for knit clothing. In addition, functional material that is difficult to sew together is spreading not only to sportswear but to various other items as well. To respond to such apparel-market changes and needs, PEGASUS provides solutions that enable uniform quality even when sewing this diversifying range of materials. PEGASUS is expecting that this participation will provide a sufficient showcase of our products to users in countries around the world, as well as in China.
